METALS AND MATERIALS BUSINESSES NEED TO TAKE ACTION

The UK has left the EU and the transition period will end on 31 December. As we transition to our new relationship with the EU, we all need to take action to prepare.

From 1 January 2021, there will be a series of guaranteed changes and opportunities for businesses.

Many of these changes will be required regardless of the agreement we reach with the EU on our future trade relationship, as the UK will be leaving the single market and customs union. You can be confident that your preparations for these changes will not be wasted.

You need to check what will change for your business from 1 January 2021 and take action now, to ensure you are not at risk.

We have put together a list of actions that are relevant to your sector to help you to start identifying what your business needs to do. We have provided a summary for each action, explaining why your business needs to act and where you can find further information.

These actions have been categorised into separate themes to help you decide which actions are relevant to your business.

There may be more actions that are relevant to your business. You should visit gov.uk/transition and use the simple checker tool to find out if your business needs to take any further actions.

Importing and Exporting

- Make sure you have a GB EORI number
- Check the new rules on importing and exporting goods between the EU and Great Britain from 1 January 2021
- Get ready to make customs declarations
- Check if import VAT is due at the border
- Decide how you will account for import VAT when you make a customs declaration

Selling your goods

- Use gov.uk to identify how your business can be ready to sell certain goods in the UK and EU

Trading with the EU

- Check whether you need an export licence to export dual-use items to the EU or Channel Islands from 1 January 2021
- Use the 'Check How to Export Goods' tool on gov.uk to look up information on overseas tariffs, rules and border formalities for trading your goods worldwide
- Use the new UK Global Tariff schedule to check what tariff will be payable on goods entering the UK from 1 January 2021
- Check changes to trading with developing countries currently benefitting from the EU Generalised Scheme of Preferences
- Use gov.uk guidance to understand changes to trading with non-EU countries from 1 January 2021. Check if the UK has negotiated a trade agreement with the country you will be trading with
- Familiarise yourself with the UK's new trade remedies process on gov.uk

Northern Ireland Protocol

- Follow NI specific rules for trading between GB and Northern Ireland

Data

- Be prepared on data protection and data transfers

Workforce

- Signpost your current employees to the EU Settlement Scheme
- Check if a visa or work permit is required to travel to the EU for work purposes and apply if necessary
- If you are planning to recruit from overseas from 1 January 2021, you will need to register as a licensed visa sponsor

Providing Services

- Get your qualifications recognised now by EU regulators to be able to practise or service clients in the EU
- If UK-adopted international accounting standards are not determined as equivalent to EU-adopted international accounting standards, UK businesses listed on EU markets may need to produce accounts that comply with EU-adopted international accounting standards (or an equivalent) and UK-adopted international accounting standards

Chemicals Regulations

- Check what actions you need to take under UK REACH and EU REACH to continue to manufacture and place chemicals on the GB, NI and EU markets

Energy

- Comply with UK emissions levels for 2020 by April 2021

Intellectual Property

- Consider whether changes to the framework for the exhaustion of IP rights will impact your business. You may want to seek legal advice to inform your assessment

Animal, Plant, Food, and Drink Regulations

- Register for the UK's new Import of Products, Animals, Food and Feed System
- Register to submit Export health certificates and understand border checks on animals and animal products for export
- Use new documentation and understand border checks on plant products for export and import

Timber Regulations

- Apply due diligence to export/import timber from UK to EU to meet legal harvest requirements

Waste Movement

- GB businesses to familiarise themselves with EU requirements for waste movements between GB and EU

Importing and Exporting

The process for importing and exporting goods from the EU will change. Businesses in Great Britain need to complete the following actions to continue importing and exporting with EU countries from 1 January 2021.

✓ Make sure you have a GB EORI number.

You will need a unique trader reference number, called an Economic Operator Registration and Identification (EORI) number, to complete customs declarations from 1 January 2021. If you do not yet have one, you can register for free by going to www.gov.uk/eori.

✓ Check the new rules on importing and exporting goods between the EU and Great Britain from 1 January 2021.

From 1 January 2021, if you send goods from Great Britain to customers in Europe, you must complete export declarations for those goods. If you import goods from Europe that are on the controlled goods list such as animal products, alcohol or tobacco, or firearms, you must also complete declarations. To check if your imported goods are on the Controlled goods list, go to www.gov.uk/transition.

If you import non-controlled goods into Great Britain from Europe, you may be able to defer import declarations for up to six months. Your business could face delays, disruption or administrative costs if you do not comply with new customs procedures from 1 January 2021. For more information go to www.gov.uk/transition.

✓ Get ready to make customs declarations.

Most businesses like yours will need to work with a specialist, like a freight forwarding company or fast parcel operator, to complete import and export declarations. Import and export declarations are complicated, requiring specialist skill, knowledge and IT. If you are not able to make declarations or provide the wrong information, your business could face delays, disruption or administrative costs. You can find a list of businesses that can help you at www.gov.uk/transition.

✓ Check if import VAT is due at the border.

If you import any goods from Europe into Great Britain, you may need to pay import VAT from 1 January 2021. Import VAT will not be due at the border in most cases if goods in a consignment are worth less than £135 in value. The only exception to this is consignments containing excise goods, where import VAT (along with Excise and Customs duties where applicable) will be due at the border. For more information, go to www.gov.uk/transition.

✓ Decide how you will account for import VAT when you make a customs declaration.

If you're business is VAT-registered, from 1 January 2021 you'll be able to use postponed VAT accounting to account for import VAT, for goods imported into the UK from anywhere in the world. This means you can account for VAT on goods imported through your VAT Return. For more information, go to www.gov.uk/transition.

Selling your goods

- ✓ Use gov.uk to identify changes affecting manufactured goods, such as new marking requirements or approvals needed, to ensure your business is ready to sell them in the UK and EU.

From 1 January 2021, there may be a number of changes that apply to your goods. You may need to review your product marking, labelling, and packaging. You may need additional approvals, certifications, or registrations. You may need to appoint a legal representative based in the UK or the EU. The legal responsibilities of you or your distributors may change. You may not be able to sell your goods in the UK and the EU from 1 January 2021.

- Check which regulations apply to your product – to determine what steps you or others in your supply chain need to take, identify what EU regulations are relevant to you.
- Check if you need a new product approval and begin the process as soon as possible – if your product requires third-party approval, you may need a new approval especially if you sell in both UK and EU. Subject to negotiations, from 1 January 2021 the EU will stop recognising UK approvals.
- Check if you need to appoint a new authorised representative to act on your behalf – UK-based individuals and legal entities will no longer count as established in the EU, and vice-versa. You may need to appoint someone to undertake certain tasks in the EU or UK.
- Speak to your supply chains / distributors and understand new legal duties – make sure your suppliers/distributors/customers understand the actions they need to take. If you distribute EU goods, or have your goods distributed by someone in the EU, you may acquire new legal duties.
- Consider what marking / labelling changes apply to your product – you may need to make changes to the information or regulatory markings that appear on your product, for example to reflect changes to product approvals or new representatives you appoint in the EU.

More information is available at www.gov.uk/transition.

Trading with the EU

After 31 December 2020, EU trade agreements will not apply to the UK. The UK is seeking to reproduce the effects of existing EU agreements for when they no longer apply to the UK. This will ensure continuity of trading arrangements for UK businesses. This means businesses will have to take action.

- ✓ Check whether you need an export licence to export dual-use items to the EU or Channel Islands from 1 January 2021.

From 1 January 2021, you will need an export licence issued by the UK to export dual-use items from the UK to the EU or Channel Islands. If you do not have the correct licence, your goods may be held at the border. To register for the licence, visit www.spire.trade.gov.uk.

- ✓ Use the 'Check How to Export Goods' tool on gov.uk to look up information on overseas tariffs, rules and border formalities for trading your goods worldwide.

Use the 'Check How to Export Goods' service on gov.uk to check duties and customs procedures for exporting your goods worldwide. Failure to complete the proper documentation or follow the correct procedures may result in delays getting goods through customs as well as unexpected taxes on goods upon entry to the destination and country. From January 2021, there will be new requirements for how you export goods from the UK. Use the service at www.gov.uk/transition.

- ✓ Use the new UK Global Tariff schedule to check what tariff will be payable on goods entering the UK from 1 January 2021.

If you import goods into the UK, you should check the new UK Global Tariff schedule. From 1 January 2021, the UK Global Tariff schedule will apply to all goods imported into the UK unless an exception applies. Exceptions include goods you import from a country that has a trade agreement with the UK or from a developing country that pays less or no duty because it's part of the Generalised Scheme of Preferences. You can check the tariffs that will apply to goods you import at www.gov.uk/transition.

- ✓ Check changes to trading with developing countries currently benefitting from the EU Generalised Scheme of Preferences.

From January 2021, the UK will have its own Generalised Scheme of Preferences. Businesses importing goods from eligible developing countries will be able to get trade preferences through the UK's new scheme. This means that you may be able to benefit from a reduction or removal of duty (tariffs) on imports from developing countries into the UK. Check the guidance at www.gov.uk/transition.

- ✓ Use gov.uk guidance to understand trading arrangements for non-EU countries from 1 January 2021. Check if the UK has negotiated a trade agreement with the country you will be trading with.

Trading with countries outside the EU may change from January 2021. Your business may face disruption when trading goods between the UK and the rest of world if you are not aware of trading arrangements with non-EU countries from 1 January 2021. Find out about trade agreements that the UK has signed or agreed in principle, and agreements that are still under discussion at www.gov.uk/transition.

- ✓ Familiarise yourself with the UK's new trade remedies process on gov.uk.

From 1 January 2021, if you think your business has been injured by unfair import practices, you can submit an application to the UK's new trade remedies system. For more information, visit www.gov.uk/transition.

Northern Ireland Protocol

From 1 January 2021, the Northern Ireland Protocol will take effect. Businesses and individuals will be able to move goods from Northern Ireland into the rest of the United Kingdom on the same basis as now. However, the application of the Protocol will involve some changes for goods movements into Northern Ireland.

✓ Follow NI specific rules for trading between GB and Northern Ireland.

There will be some changes for goods movements into Northern Ireland from Great Britain. The new Trader Support Service is available to support businesses with these movements.

The free Trader Support Service:

- will help if you move goods between Great Britain and Northern Ireland, or bring goods into Northern Ireland from outside the UK
- will be free to use and guide you through any changes to the way goods move between Great Britain and Northern Ireland
- can complete declarations on your behalf

Processes for Northern Ireland businesses moving goods to and from the European Union (including Ireland) will not change after the Transition Period.

More information is available at www.gov.uk/transition and www.gov.uk/transition.

Data

Personal data is any information that can be used to identify a living person, including names, delivery details, IP addresses, or HR data such as payroll details. Most organisations use personal data in their daily operations. If you receive personal data from the EU for business use, you may need to take action on data protection. Additionally, if you provide online service in the EU, you will have to ensure that you are compliant with relevant requirements in each EU country you operate in.

✓ Be prepared on data protection and data transfers.

If you're a business or organisation that receives personal data from the EU/EEA, you may need to take action on data protection as we transition to our new relationship with the EU. Check how you can legally continue to receive personal data such as names, addresses or payroll details from organisations in the EU or EEA from 1 January 2021. Your business may not be able to legally receive personal data from EEA if you have not put in place alternative safeguards to cover EU-UK personal data flows by 31 December 2020. To understand more about the steps you need to take, visit www.gov.uk/transition.

Workforce

The UK has left the EU and from 31 December 2020, free movement of people between the UK and EU will end. Currently, EU citizens have the right to move freely into the UK to live, work and study here. This will come to an end after the transition period and the UK will introduce a points-based immigration system.

The new system will change the way you hire from the EU and it is important you take the necessary steps to prepare. Anyone you want to recruit from outside the UK, excluding Irish citizens, will need to apply for permission first, and you will need to be registered as a licensed sponsor. Further information can be found below.

The new system will not apply to EU employees already working for you in the UK. EU citizens and their family members living in the UK by 31 December 2020 can apply to the EU Settlement Scheme. Similarly, EU citizens who are employed, or self-employed in the UK, but live elsewhere, otherwise known as frontier workers, will be able to keep their status if they are frontier working in the UK by 31 December 2020, but they will need to apply for a permit. Irish citizens will not need a frontier worker permit but may apply for one if they wish. Additionally, EU citizens can continue to visit the UK for up to six months without applying for a visa and may also participate in a wide range of activities, including business-related activities, such as events and conferences.

✓ Signpost your current employees to the EU Settlement Scheme.

If you employ EU, EEA and Swiss citizens, you can signpost them to the information they need to apply to the EU Settlement Scheme, to protect their right to live, work and access benefits in the UK. The deadline for applying is 30 June 2021. Find out more at www.gov.uk/transition.

✓ Check if a visa or work permit is required to travel to the EU for work purposes and apply if necessary.

The country you are travelling to might ask you to arrange additional documentation depending on who you are, the activity you perform and how long you are travelling for. You may face delays or refusal at border when travelling for business if you do not comply with the immigration requirements of the EU27 if travelling after 31 December 2020. For more information visit www.gov.uk/transition.

- ✓ If you are planning to recruit from overseas from 1 January 2021, you will need to register as a licensed visa sponsor.

The way you hire from the EU is changing from 1 January 2021. To hire anyone new from outside the UK, you'll need to register as a licensed sponsor. Getting a license normally takes 8 weeks and fees apply. New employees from outside the UK will also need to meet new job, salary and language requirements. Irish citizens and those eligible under the EU Settlement Scheme are not affected.

If you are not already a licensed sponsor and you think you will want to sponsor migrants through the skilled worker route from January 2021, you should apply now. You may not be able to legally hire people from outside the UK, unless you are a licensed sponsor. Find out more at www.pbiseemployers.campaign.gov.uk.

Providing Services

If you're a UK business or professional providing services in the EU or EFTA region, you will need to check the national regulations of the country you're doing business in to understand how best to operate. You will also need to have your UK professional qualification officially recognised if you want to work in a profession that is regulated in the EU or EFTA.

- ✓ Get your professional qualifications recognised now by EU regulators to be able to practise or service clients in the EU.

If you have a UK professional qualification you will need to have this officially recognised by the appropriate regulator for your profession in each country where you intend to work. You will need to do this even if you are only providing short-term or occasional professional services. If you do not do this, you may be unable to practise your profession or service clients in the EU from 1 January 2021. There are different rules if you are a lawyer or an auditor. For more information, visit www.gov.uk/transition.

- ✓ If UK-adopted international accounting standards are not determined as equivalent to EU-adopted international accounting standards, UK businesses listed on EU markets may need to produce accounts that comply with EU-adopted international accounting standards (or an equivalent) and UK-adopted international accounting standards.

Companies preparing IFRS accounts will need to use 'UK adopted IFRS' instead of 'EU adopted IFRS' for financial years beginning after the 1 January 2021. UK incorporated groups with securities admitted to trading on a UK regulated market will need to prepare accounts using UK adopted IFRS for all accounting periods beginning on or after 1 January 2021. UK incorporated companies listed on other EU markets will need to comply with the rules of those markets as well as preparing accounts that comply with the UK Companies Act 2006.

UK incorporated parent companies with a subsidiary in the EEA and UK companies with a presence in the EEA (for example a branch) need to check the reporting requirements in the country where the subsidiary, or branch, is based.

UK incorporated groups that issue debt from a subsidiary incorporated in the EU will need to comply with the rules of the country where the subsidiary is based as well as produce accounts that comply with the UK Companies Act 2006. More information is available at www.gov.uk/transition.

UK companies listed in the EEA need to secure an auditor who is registered as a third country auditor in the relevant EEA states to comply with local audit requirements. More information is available at www.gov.uk/transition.

Chemicals Regulations

UK REACH, the UK's independent chemicals regulatory framework, starts on 1 January 2021. Anyone making, selling or distributing chemicals in the UK and the EU needs to follow UK REACH and EU REACH rules. You will also need to apply for an import and export licence when trading drug precursor chemicals with EU countries.

- ✓ Check what actions you need to take under UK REACH and EU REACH to continue to manufacture and place chemicals on the GB, NI and EU markets.

If you want to place new chemicals on both the EU/EEA (including Switzerland) and UK markets from 1 January 2021, you must follow both EU REACH and UK REACH rules. You must register new chemicals you want to sell on the UK market from 1 January 2021 with the Health and Safety Executive. Your business may face delay, disruption or administrative costs to trading goods between UK and EU if you do not comply with chemicals regulations by 31 December 2020. More information is available at www.gov.uk/transition.

Energy

The EU ETS is the largest multi-country, multi-sector greenhouse gas emissions trading system in the world. It includes around 1,000 power stations and industrial plants in the UK. These include power stations, oil refineries, offshore platforms and industries that produce iron and steel, cement and lime, paper, glass, ceramics and chemicals. Other organisations, including aviation operators flying into or from a European airport, are also covered by the EU ETS. Businesses should take necessary steps to ensure they meet compliance obligations by a certain date.

✓ Comply with UK emissions levels for 2020 by April 2021.

During the transition period from 1 February to 31 December 2020, the UK remains a full participant in the EU Emission Trading Scheme. This means that participating UK operators must meet their 2020 compliance obligations.

UK operators will continue to be able to access their accounts in the Union Registry and any allowances they contain, for the purpose of 2020 compliance on 30 April 2021, and business should take necessary steps to ensure your business meets compliance obligations by this date.

Access to Union registry operator accounts after this date may no longer be possible. Additionally, as of 1 January 2021, trading accounts in the UK sections of the Registry will no longer have access to these accounts. If any account holders wish to continue holding allowances after their respective loss of access, they may wish to open a trading account in the Union Registry administered by an EU Member State and move their assets to this account.

More information is available at www.gov.uk/transition.

Intellectual Property

The Intellectual Property system will continue as it is until 31 December 2020. There will be no disruption to IPO services or changes to the UK IP system during this transition period. The IPO will convert almost 1.4 million EU trademarks and 700,000 EU designs to comparable UK rights at the end of the transition period. However, there will be some actions business will have to take in order to protect their intellectual property.

- ✓ Consider whether changes to the framework for the exhaustion of IP rights will impact your business. You may want to seek legal advice to inform your assessment.

If you currently export intellectual property protected goods (such as goods branded with a trade mark) from the UK to the EEA that have already been placed on the UK market, you may need to contact the rights holder to get permission to continue after 1 January 2021. If you own intellectual property rights in goods first sold in the UK, you will need to consider if you want to allow parallel exports of your intellectual property-protected goods from the UK to the EEA after 1 January 2021. More information is available at www.gov.uk/transition.

Animal, Plant, Food, and Drink Regulations

You will have to follow new processes to import and export animals, animal products, high-risk food and feed between UK and EU from 1 January 2021. Food and drink producers, manufacturers, retailers and suppliers will have to change labels from 1 January 2021.

✓ Register for the UK's new Import of Products, Animals, Food and Feed System.

If you import animals or animal products to the UK, you will need to register for the new Import of Products, Animals, Food and Feed System. To register for the system, you will need to create a Government Gateway account for the business or organisation you represent. More information is available at www.gov.uk/transition.

✓ Register to submit Export health certificates and understand border checks on animals and animal products for export.

If you export animals or animal products from Great Britain to the EU or from Great Britain to Northern Ireland, you'll need an Export Health Certificate from 1 January 2021. An Export Health Certificate is an official document that confirms your export meets the health requirements of the destination country. You need to apply for an Export Health Certificate in advance and get your goods checked at a Border Control Post in the first EU country they enter. You will not be able to export these goods from 1 January 2021 if you do not apply in time. Register for the new Export Health Certificate Online system to be ready from 1 January 2021. More information is available at www.gov.uk/transition.

✓ Use new documentation and understand border checks on plant products for export and import.

From 1 January 2021, Great Britain, including Scotland and Wales, will need to meet third country rules to import and export plants and plant products. You will need to follow new processes: to export plants and plant products, goods will need to be accompanied by a phytosanitary certificate applied for using the relevant system.

A similar process will need to be followed to import plants and plant products into Great Britain from the EU from 1 January 2021. All high-priority goods will require a phytosanitary certificate issued by the plant health authorities of the exporting country and pre-notified using the relevant notification system.

In early 2021 new IT systems will be used to import and export plants and plants products – replacing the current systems. More information is available at www.gov.uk/transition.

Timber Regulations

Businesses will need to take action when importing and exporting timber between UK and EU after the transition period.

✓ Apply due diligence to export/import timber from UK to EU to meet legal harvest requirements.

If you import or export timber between the UK and EU/EEA, you may need to prove it's been legally harvested from 1 January 2021. You'll need to show imports from the EU and EEA to the UK have been legally harvested by carrying out due diligence checks. If you're exporting timber to the EU or EEA, you may need to supply documentation about the source and legality of your timber. This is so EU and EEA-based customers can meet the EU Timber Regulation (EUTR) due diligence rules. Due diligence systems will vary business by business. More information is available at www.gov.uk/transition.

Waste Movement

Businesses will need to follow EU customs guidelines when shipping waste to the EU after the transition period.

✓ GB businesses to familiarise themselves with EU requirements for waste movements between GB and EU.

If you import or export waste, you'll need to make yourself aware of the EU customs guidelines and the EU Waste Shipment Regulations. Approval is required from the regulator in the country of dispatch, country of destination and when relevant, country of transit before notifiable wastes can move. Depending on the EU competent authority it may take 30 days or more to process applications.

The GB regulators endeavour to process applications within the 30-day time period laid out in the EU legislation. EU regulators often take more time and that is outside our control.

More information is available at www.gov.uk/transition.
